LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Bonanza man blossoms out in a new advertisement this week. It is of few words, but mighty full of meat.

Mr. H. Barnhouse, late of Piedmont, has bought the Hill property, south of the courthouse, and will open a bakery in a few days.

If anybody not known to be O. K. offers to sell you postage stamps, take 'em off him. A lot of them were purloined from the post-office Sunday night.

The remains of Frank Hall, Esq., of Walnut Ridge, were interred in the Masonic Cemetery last Tuesday. He died suddenly on Monday, and his body was transported to Arcadia, whence it was taken to its final resting-place.

We return thanks to the ladies of Poplar Bluff for an invitation to their "Calico Ball," which takes Friday evening, Feb. 2d, and we regret that circumstances are such that we cannot attend, as it promises to be an elegant affair.

A slight wreck disturbed Arcadia's railroad circle last Sunday night. A baggage-car going south, got partly off the track. No serious damage was done, and, after a little work and a good deal of pious ejaculation, the train went on its way.

The revival at the M. E. Church, North, ended last Saturday—owing, in some degree, to the temporary indisposition of the pastor, Rev. J. Marshall. Mr. M. is a good man, a forcible and eloquent preacher, and highly esteemed by his congregation.

Sunday and Monday were bright and springlike. A soft southern breeze tempered the air and tempted everybody from out their domiciles. Tuesday morning the wind shifted suddenly to the north, the skies were overcast and the brief view of the early coming spring again shut out.

J. A. Hughes, Esq., returned home last week from Arkansas and Louisiana, whither he had gone to avoid the cold weather which whiffles this section in mid-winter. Joe says there is mud and water galore down there, and to a stranger the eternal rains are very depressing. So he came to Ironton.

Thompson, the soda man of Farmington, in connection with Klausman Brewery Company of South St. Louis, has leased the Richer Soda Factory at Pilot Knob for ten years. They are putting up a big ice house, and propose making Pilot Knob the headquarters for Southeast Missouri and Northern Arkansas, for beer, soda, and ice.

The streets and sidewalks of the little city of Ironton are in a horrible condition, and no mistake. Let there be a general overhauling and repairing so soon as the weather permits. The sidewalks are especially bad, and last Sunday, when the frost was out the ground, were well nigh impassable. We hope no strangers passed down Main street that afternoon.

The comic opera, "The Little Duke," will be given at the Academy of Music within a short time. The exact date has not yet been determined upon, but ample notice will be given after completion of arrangements. The opera will be rendered by the Future Great Juvenile Dramatic, Operatic and Specialty Company of St. Louis. See article from Republican in another column.

L. D. Carle, Esq., of Bellevue, a short time ago, received a pair of Merino sheep by express from North Missouri, in excellent condition. He says they are as fine as any in the Southeast, and he purposes to test their merits as contrasted with the Southdowns and Cotswolds on his place. Mr. Carle is one of the most successful sheep herders in this section, and has done much to introduce improved stock.

Last Friday Jas. Buford received a dispatch from St. Louis stating that his father-in-law, C. K. Bacon, Esq., had been stricken with paralysis, and was lying helpless and speechless. Mrs. Buford went to the city immediately and remained with her father—who was also attended by another daughter who lives with him—until Tuesday, when Mr. B. was somewhat improved. He was at one time a prominent citizen of Iron County.

The "Pie War" came to a conclusion last Monday at Judge Dinger's office. The facts pro and con were submitted to a jury, which, after a short deliberation, returned a verdict of "Not Guilty," and Mrs. Allison et al. went on their way rejoicing. The principal of the other side went home highly dissatisfied. "Call you Ironton 'the Hub'?" Then may God have mercy upon all other Hubs!" was the involuntary ejaculation.

Last Thursday afternoon, at the residence of the bride in Pilot Knob, Judge Dinger united in the bonds of wedlock, Mr. Bismarck Hartman to Mrs. Breitenstein. One peculiar feature of this wedding was the attendance of the bride's eight grandchildren, and yet she was young and spry enough to open the ball that followed by a waltz with Judge Dinger. The groom was so pleased with the manner the dance went off that he kissed the Judge by way of approval. "And all went merry as marriage bells."

Three box-cars in a through freight train, loaded with cotton, jumped the track in the cut east of town, last Saturday morning. The first cause of the accident was the displacement of a truck, just south of the railroad bridge, which got loose and ran clear from under the car and off the track, leaving that end of the car suspended by the draw-head. In the cut above mentioned, the draw-head gave way, and three cars were derailed in short order. This was about eight o'clock in the morning, and it was two in the afternoon when No. 1 was enabled to pass by. The final clearing up of the wreck was not accomplished until twenty-four hours later.

Arcadia Valley Teachers' Association.

The Association will hold its next monthly meeting at the public school building in Pilot Knob on Saturday, Feb. 3d, 1883. The program will consist of a paper, "Salutatory," by Mrs. Lyman; a paper, "School Government," by F. C. Miller; a paper, "Total Abstinence and the Public Schools," by Thos. Calahan; Institute work, by Mrs. Miller; a paper, "The Relation of Psychology and Physiology," by H. C. Davis; Institute work, "How to Teach U. S. History," by A. P. Vance; Institute work, by C. L. Elough. C. L. EBAUGH, Secretary.

New Enterprise.

We understand there is a movement among a few of the enterprising business men of Ironton and Pilot Knob to establish a horse car line between Pilot Knob and Arcadia Depot.

Now, what we would like to know is, have there been any steps taken in the matter? If so, by whom? If not, we would like to make a suggestion, since we have heard of the project.

Investigations show that if steam be used instead of horses, it can be got up cheaper, be more economical afterwards and trips made quicker and more pleasant than otherwise. We hope that some of the many interested in this enterprise will favor us thro' the columns of your paper with their views.

We will be most happy to give a detailed estimate.

We are

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

Tom Diggs' Lost Bottle.

Tom Diggs, the venerable colored factotum of this town, is fond of whiskey. We presume there are none to dispute this proposition, and it fully explains the presence of Mr. Diggs in the warehouse of the drug store one day last week. In that warehouse was a 48-gallon barrel of $2.50 spiritus frumenti—known to Tom by a shorter, sweeter name. There being, on the occasion alluded to, no one by to interrupt, he took a quart bottle, set it under the drippings, and turned the faucet. When the bottle was half-filled Tom's guilty conscience heard a noise, and his quaking body ran away—forgetting in his hurry to close the outlet of the barrel aforesaid. Next morning, the smell of spirits pervaded the premises, and investigation showed that all the contents of the barrel were spilled forever—all except the quart which Tom's bottle, still standing unclaimed under the faucet, contained. Mr. Wiesner sealed it down and labeled it—"Best Whiskey, Last Run—T. D.—1883—$120.00." Mr. Diggs, we understand, is thinking of bringing suit for the recovery of his bottle—but this may be only rumor.

Post-Office Robbed.

Last Sunday night—or rather, Monday morning between 12 and 3 o'clock—the post-office at this place was broken into and robbed of about $40 worth of stamps and change. Entrance was gained from the rear, the burglars "jimmy"ing the outside door, and boring through the inner door which separates the rear room from the post-office proper. This inner door has no lock or bolt, but is secured on the inside by a hook and staple. The burglars bored and chiseled a hole big enough to admit a hand, when of course the undoing of the hook became an easy matter.

Harry Peck, deputy postmaster, is also night agent at the depot, and his duties there demand his presence every night from 12 to 3 o'clock, or until No. 2 goes by. Sunday night he left home at the usual hour going by way of the post-office, where he stopped to get a revolver lying in a drawer inside the counter. At that time nothing had been disturbed; but when he returned after No. 2 had gone by, he found the rear doors standing open and the stamp and money drawer out on the floor. He evidently surprised the burglars, for none of the letters or mail matter had been disturbed; and in fact he thought he heard a noise inside as he stepped to the front door. Be that as it may they got away. Harry at once went home and alarmed his father who came over immediately. No clue to the burglars has been obtained, but we hope they may yet be discovered. Let our readers be on the lookout, and if any suspicious character offer stamps for sale, make him give an account of himself. This is the second time this post-office has been burglarized within eighteen months, and it is getting monotonous—especially to the post-master, who is out some two hundred dollars by it.

Personal.

Miss Birdie Nifong, who has been visiting friends and relatives here for the past week, left Sunday for Piedmont. She will return the latter part of the week and spend a few days more here before returning to her home in Fredericktown.

Mrs. A. A. Butts, of Arcadia, has rented the House property, recently occupied by Mr. J. F. Lindsay, and will remove there shortly. We are glad to have Mrs. Butts again a resident of Ironton.

Messrs. Jas. H. Clark and Wm. Crommer left Monday morning for St. Louis, for the purpose of buying machinery for the mill they propose erecting at this place.

Mr. Obemeyer, of Texarkana, route agent of the Southern Express, was in Ironton on business last Thursday.

Mr. Jos. A. Hughes again greets his Ironton friends, after a visit of several months in the "Sunny South."

Mr. H. R. Charlton, of Piedmont, passed through Ironton Sunday on a return trip from St. Louis.

Mrs. Gustavus Dolfuss left last Saturday for St. Louis. She will return the latter part of this week.

Misses Seitz and Cole, of Middlebrook, were in Ironton last Friday.

Millions Given Away.

Millions of bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds have been given away as trial bottles of the large size. This enormous outlay would be disastrous to the proprietors were it not for the rare merits possessed by this wonderful medicine. Call at the Pilot Knob Drug Store and get a trial bottle free, and try for yourself. It never fails to cure.

Across the Continent as Far as Belgrade.

Desiring to meet with the Sunday School Convention on the 16th inst., a start was made on the 15th; and after a happy rest over night at the home of Mr. Vail, the Valley of Bellevue was reached. Standing on the last high hill on the east, a splendid view was enjoyed. The air was softening, and a silver veil of mist toned down the rugged faces of the bold, dark-browed hills that rim in the valley. Through the light, rifted clouds, flecks of light and winks of sun-beam threw narrow bars of pale gold over the landscape like floating oases of joy and peace in a weary life.

But soon a rest was found under the roof of Mr. J. E. Lowe, where other friends came awaiting the Convention. This gathering has already been noticed, and as far as possible this article will run clear of it. The music will be noticed, because it could not be fairly presented sooner. The reporter is thankful for that music, and still more so for the musician.

Do those who handle the harp and the organ always know that music is a revealer of secrets? It is conceded that even the inspiration of God does not cancel individuality, and Music discloses its inner thoughts. But it is not intended to lecture on music now, but to say that at that melody the air seemed to grow pure; that it told of a true life working up to great results, with little jarring and less noise.

"She met the hosts of sorrow with a look that altered not beneath the frowns she wore; And soon the lowering browed were tamed, and took weekly her gentle rule, and frowned no more. Her soft hand put aside the assaults of wrath And calmly broke in twain The fiery shafts of pain, And rent the nets of passion from her path. By that victorious hand Despair was slain. With Love she vanquished Hate, and overcame Evil with Good in her great Master's name."

The princely hospitality which welcomed the neighbors who came to the Convention, was not a special effort, gotten up for the occasion. It was merely a way in which the people of Bellevue have learned to walk; so that the more we see of them the more we know the fact.

I spent all the afternoon of Tuesday in the school, and was pleased with what I saw. The teacher, Mr. J. H. Smith, is a success; that is, he is a good scholar for a young man, and is punctual, courteous and industrious. The school is in better condition than I ever saw it. I have been told that the improvement is owing to the administration of Mr. John Bell as teacher. No doubt Mr. Bell did his whole duty, as Mr. Smith is doing his; but the real secret of the change is in the fact that the scholars are under better home influences. It would be well to retain Mr. Smith for more terms of school.

As a road master, Mr. J. E. Lowe is a fair rival for Judge Russell; and, if continued in his office, bids fair to deliver Bellevue from that terror of wayfaring men—its unfathomable mud.

The time has been when the waters of Bellevue Valley found their way to the Mississippi through the St. Francois river. The outlet of the valley was then between the east end of Buford mountain and the Granite Quarry; but the upheaval which gave us Pilot Knob and Iron Mountain was connected with a corresponding depression. The valley sunk and a lake was formed, the waters of which cut their way out at the northwestern corner through two shut-ins.

The view of the valley to be had from Buford mountain is exceedingly fine, as the whole valley of Cedar creek is under the eye with its artistic clumps of timber, neat dwellings and well cultivated fields.

Too little attention has been given to the most interesting facts in regard to Bellevue valley and its advantages as a summer resort.

In my next article I will describe my guide and what we did and saw.

From Graniteville.

GRANITEVILLE, Mo., Jan. 29, 1883.
Ed. Register.—Thinking you would like to hear something from this place, one of nature's great curiosities of red granite, inexhaustible and of a superior quality, all of which you have long since described in your valuable paper, I will invite you a few items. Many improvements have been made under the management of Messrs. W. R. Allen, President, and E. M. Smith, Vice-President, of the Granite Company. General office 5th and Walnut street, St. Louis. Gray and red granite furnished in any quantity or shape desired, rough or polished. Messrs. T. F. Walsh and F. W. Mott, Treasurer and Secretary, two very obliging gentlemen, can be found in the Company's Store, which is a large and commodious building, neat and well arranged, and contains a large stock of new goods, just opened, including everything needed in a first-class store.

Over two hundred men are employed in the quarries, and the force will be increased as soon as the weather will permit. Forty or fifty new houses are being erected for employees and their families, and in a few months Graniteville will have the appearance of a nice town.

In walking over and viewing the scenery of this wonderful place, I was delighted to meet my genial friend, Mr. August Fromhold, who has been connected with the I. M. R. R. for a number of years in the hotel department. He is now proprietor of the new hotel here, which has just been completed in a nice forest grove, upon a beautiful elevation. The house is two stories high, containing many nicely furnished rooms, also dining and sitting rooms. In fact, everything complete. Gus. knows how to attend to the wants of the inner man, judging from the manner in which he supplies the table. You will always find him obliging and accommodating.

The Superintendent of the works is a very energetic and affable gentleman, and takes great pleasure in showing strangers through the quarries.

I also find Messrs. Schwider & Ranft doing a good business in the south end of town, known as Germanville.

The Branch road from Middlebrook will soon be completed, and ere long the iron horse will be welcomed by many citizens, and the poor mules from many years of toll, will retire to the shades of private life.

I think, Mr. Editor, it will pay you to take a drive out, and get better acquainted with many newly arrived citizens, who would be pleased to see a few editorialists from you.

Will give you a more general description at some future day.

Pilot Knob Items.

The streets of town are very quiet.

Mr. P. H. Jaquith, our very obliging Postmaster, has fitted himself with a new mail case. It's a daisy.

Mr. Chas. Martin has built quite a large addition to his soda factory. Getting ready, we presume, for Prohibition.

Mrs. Z. T. Fulton and her little boy, Master Clarence, from Piedmont, late visiting Mrs. F. C. Miller for a few days.

Arcadia Valley Teachers' Association will hold its fifth session at Pilot Knob, on Saturday of the present week, beginning at 10 o'clock A. M.

Capt. Steffens, host of the Pilot Knob Hotel, has just returned from St. Louis, where he went to attend on the Grand Lodge of "Herman Sons," which order lately established a lodge at Pilot Knob.

The rumor that got current last week to the effect that Pilot Knob mines had "shut down" work, was a false alarm. Only stopped to warm their hands; for, you must remember, it was very cold. Some of the miners are responsible for the report getting out.

Dr. Farrar is the happy possessor of a bicycle upon which he can be seen floating up and down our streets "featherlight." This favorite method of locomotion is fast becoming popular with professional men, for the reason that it combines speed with the most healthy exercise known.

C. U. LATER.

DIED.—At his residence, four miles west of Ironton, on Sunday, January 28, 1883, of pneumonia, JOSIAH J. CHILDERS, aged 41 years.

The body was buried on Monday evening on the farm. A wife and several children mourn his untimely departure.

S. LOPEZ.—This store is a branch of an old established firm at Ironton, Iron county, and with their many years' experience in the mercantile business, knowing this to be a live point and having an eye to business, they opened out a large line of clothing, notions, &c. They carry over a $10,000 stock, and do a live cash and produce business. Their salesmen are polite and attentive, their stock fresh, complete and well assorted, and their prices as low as any other first-class house in this section. Low prices and a liberal use of printer's ink will win, and this firm certainly takes advantage of both.—Piedmont Leader.
